We're closing out another busy October. With already some exciting events under our belt this fall and many more on the horizon, here is a glimpse of what we have been up to and what's to come.

80's Monster Bash

Daniel Island, October 13 - The Family Circle Tennis Center was transformed into an arena of New Wave for the 80's Monster Bash. This reunion of 1980's bands like Cutting Crew, Flock of Seagulls and Survivor was presented by Charleston-based Spectra Records and exec Bobby Collins. PDA designed and produced all technical aspects of the show, including lighting, sound, set and rigging.

MUSC Ashley River Tower Dedication

Thank you to all of our clients for your continued support. Give us a call with any questions or to begin planning your next event.

Charleston, October 12 - For the unveiling of its $275 million Ashley River Tower, MUSC called on PDA to provide a video wall, sound system and plasma displays. The video wall looked particularly clear and crisp even in the bright sunlight. If you would like more information on a video wall for your next event, give us a call.

PDA Props

AS an active member in the Charleston Southern University Board of Visitors, PDA recently designed and installed audio visual systems in the CSU Gold Room and Charleston Room. The installation was in preparation for CSU's President's Day events and meetings.

The meeting was a total success, due to the fact that PDA has great people and the right equipment to effectively get the point across. Besides, PDA is a member and Bert Mann (system designer and salesperson) is an active participant in the organization, which gives them vested interest in the school and its continued growth and prosperity. Thank you again for being an organization of great people who care and put forth their best efforts.
